ISSUE 01

Chroma

A tiny magazine about color, laid out as double-width spreads.

Dawn

Every color starts as light bending through the air.

This spread is a single PDF page twice as wide as the cover. SdFlip splits it in two and opens it as a left and a right page, so the artwork meets in the middle without a seam.

Ocean

Blue is the color the sea keeps for itself.

This spread is a single PDF page twice as wide as the cover. SdFlip splits it in two and opens it as a left and a right page, so the artwork meets in the middle without a seam.

Forest

Green is a thousand shades pretending to be one.

This spread is a single PDF page twice as wide as the cover. SdFlip splits it in two and opens it as a left and a right page, so the artwork meets in the middle without a seam.

Dusk

At the end of the day, every color turns violet.

This spread is a single PDF page twice as wide as the cover. SdFlip splits it in two and opens it as a left and a right page, so the artwork meets in the middle without a seam.

Made with SdFlip

github.com/Pandarens/SdFlip